

EXONERATED OF MANSLAUGHTER
CHARGE BY JURY

John F. Watts Held Blameless
By Coroner's Jury
Here

ONE CHARGE PENDING

Still Has to Answer Drunken Driving Charge At Court

John F. Watts, Bristol Township, driver of the automobile which on the night of August 4th crashed into a parked car on the Newportville road with such force that John Muth, his friend, was tossed from the machine and died, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday of any blame for the accident.

The inquest was held in the Municipal Building here, and was conducted by Coroner John J. Sweeney and Deputy Coroner W. Purman Young. The jury was composed of James E. Moon, John P. Kessler, Anthony Russo, J. Curtis Howell, Thomas Lawrence and George Silbert.

According to the testimony Watts, Frank Richardson and Muth were driving in Watts' car traveling in the direction of Croydon on the Newportville Road at about nine o'clock at night.

Both Watts, the driver, and Richardson testified that Watts was blinded by the lights of another car and for this reason could not see the car of Joseph O. Cedar, which was parked along the road in front of his place of residence on the creek side.

The Watts car crashed into the Cedar car and turned over. Muth was thrown out into a ditch and when taken to the hospital was found to be seriously injured. He died.

Watts told the jury that he left home at about one o'clock in the afternoon on August 4th and went to the Muth residence in Newportville. He and Muth later in the day picked up Richardson and the three started for a ride in the evening. It was about nine o'clock when the accident occurred. Watts said that the only thing he drank during the day was two bottles of beer. Richardson said that Watts had not had a drink from the time he met him and that his condition was natural.

Joseph O. Cedar, owner of the machine into which the Watts car crashed, had just left his car and was entering the house when the accident happened. His back was turned and he did not see the accident.

Watts has been in jail since the accident and was brought down from Doylestown yesterday for the hearing. He will now have to stand trial for drunken driving. State Highway Patrol had two charges preferred against him, one of manslaughter and one of drunken driving.

Rain Big Benefit To
Bucks County Farmers

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 7.—Thursday night's rain put thousands of dollars in the pockets of Bucks county farmers, according to Farm Agent Greenawalt.

It gave corn a new lease of life at a time when its growth was being retarded seriously, and perhaps gave pasture which was about ruined a new lease of life.

Potatoes had been badly hurt, some vines killed by lack of moisture. Flooding had been stopped because of the hard baked ground.

Vegetables, especially celery, was suffering greatly.

Because of the damage to pasture dairymen were obliged to use more expensive feeds and that brought the increase of a cent a quart for milk.

ARRESTED SECOND TIME
FOR BREAKING INTO HOUSE

Joshua Butler Accused of Forcing Entry Into The Tilotta Residence

HELD IN BAIL FOR COURT

Prodded with an unquenchable thirst for drink a man has been taken into custody for the second time on the charge of forcing an entrance into the house of a man who was murdered and whose wife at present is in jail waiting trial on the charge of being implicated in concealing a scheme to do away with her spouse.

The man under arrest is Joshua Butler, Tullytown. He was given a hearing yesterday before Justice Laughlin and held under $500 bail for court, there to answer to the charge. It is the second time Butler has been arrested on the same charge.

Butler is accused of forcing an entrance into the residence of Giovanni Tilotta, 1141 Beaver street. Tilotta was so severely beaten on the night of December 29th, last year, that he died the following evening in the Harriman Hospital. His wife and her lover, Gus-ppi Guida and a cousin of the latter, Giacomo Gucciardo, of Brooklyn, are all in the county jail. Guida has been convicted of murder in the first degree; Maria Tilotta goes on trial next week and Gucciardo is awaiting trial. Other Brooklyn men are believed to be implicated but have not as yet been apprehended.

Butler, according to the police, went to the Tilotta house on Beaver street, Wednesday afternoon. He is charged with forcing an entrance into the place. Windows of the house were kicked in and boards torn off the rear windows. Butler had an empty five-gallon oil can with him which he carried, it is believed for the purpose of stealing two barrels of wine which are in the cellar of the Tilotta premises.

Butler was arrested for breaking into the Tilotta house shortly after the place was vacated when the wife was taken to jail and her only child given into the custody of relatives. Butler was tried before Judge Ryan and on January 28, 1929, was sentenced to serve from six to 12 months for the offense. At that time he and his accomplices were found in a drunken stupor in bed in the murdered man's house.

BUNGALOW AT CROYDON TODAY

Incendiary is Blamed for Destruction of Main Street Property

TWO ATTEMPTS MADE

First Fire Discovered at About One o'Clock by Acting Fire Chief

CROYDON, Sept. 7.—A fire bug succeeded in destroying a one-story, six-room frame bungalow this morning after having made one previous unsuccessful attempt.

The property which was totally destroyed was owned by Stephen Lockowitz, Torresdale avenue and Orthodox street, Philadelphia. The loss is estimated at about $1,600.

Two men were slightly injured and had to have medical attention.

Thomas Crawford, constable, cut his foot when he kicked in a window so that he could gain entrance to the house and thus give aid to those who he thought were inside.

Leonard Morgan, Jr., son of Fire Chief Leonard Morgan stepped on a nail and cut his foot. Morgan is acting as chief of the Croydon Fire Company during the absence of his father who is on a vacation.

Shortly after one o'clock this morning Morgan and the family of Louis Ludwig, who reside across the street from the burned building on Main street, discovered that the place was afire.

Firemen from Croydon and nearby communities including the Bristol Volunteer Department were summoned.

The house was vacant and fire was found in the rear room of the property. The blaze was extinguished and the firemen made a thorough examination before leaving.

At six o'clock this morning Constable Thomas Crawford saw the place all ablaze. He again summoned the Croydon firemen and also the Bristol Consolidated Department was called. When the firemen arrived the entire building was a mass of flame and evidence pointed to the fact that the house had been set afire in various sections.

Crawford was accompanied by Cooper.

The bungalow had been unoccupied for the past month and was unfurnished.

The first blaze did only about $400 damage.

County Fire Marshal William L. Stackhouse, Hulmeville, was called both times and started an investigation.

The bungalow is situated on Main street and is partly concealed from the roadway by trees and bushes.

Neighbors did not see anyone about the premises but the supposition is that the property was set afire both times and that the second attempt was prompted because of the failure of the first.

A MUTUAL HORROR

A member of the British parliament, who has the happy faculty of saying things which irritate and consequently stimulate his countrymen, is of the opinion that Anglo-American relations are worse at the present than at any time since the days immediately before the war of 1812.

This is perhaps true, and it may be that the United States is heading for a war with Great Britain. Certainly, if governmental ineptitude can hurry us along that road, war isn't very far off. Consider the series of events of recent years.

There was the Washington conference designed to limit armaments. The only real gain in the way of limited armaments was the agreement not to compete in obsolete line-of-battle ships.

Later the two governments faced each other at Geneva. At that meeting both seemed to be trying to outwit the other by complicated and often misleading arguments. The conference broke down.

The result was a new Anglo-French pact and a spurt in naval building in the United States, behind all of which were more or less groundless suspicions and fears.

But does this necessarily mean war or threats of war between the United States and England? Does not this alarming but unnecessary concatenation of events make war even more remote by reminding the two nations of the futility and tragedy of war? Every gesture, every stubborn resistance to disarmament, every attempt to gain an advantage is evidence of a horror of war rather than of international fear.

It is possible that the farther apart these two world powers get the nearer they will get to disarmament and peace.

NEW TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Motor buses properly and considerably operated are an important public convenience, and there is justification for allowing them to use the public highways under necessary supervision. When allowed such franchises, however, they should be bound by the conditions of the road and the rules that apply to other vehicles, and the growing practice of endangering other motorists and their own passengers in the order to "make time" should be stamped out.

Bus operators, faced with the necessity of maintaining fast time schedules, often have an incentive to abuse the privileges of the road and endanger life and property. Nothing will be gained by penalizing them for recklessness if their employers penalize them for failure to maintain their schedules.

In a number of states the highway administrations, police and public service commissions have warned bus companies that their machines must stay within the law or lose their licenses. The next thing to do is to make these warnings really mean something.

Arbitrary and unreasonable regulations, however, will do more harm than good. To reduce the bus speed to a point less than the maximum at which buses can travel with comparative safety is to encourage violation of the rules. And to expect bus operators to be infallible is asking the impossible.

If all those who eat in boarding houses were placed side by side at one table, they would reach.

Modernization of Home Requires Small Investment

IMPROVING THE HOME OFTEN COSTS BUT VERY LITTLE MONEY

$2,000 IS THE AVERAGE COST OF MODERNIZING

One of the early questions that rises in the minds of the home owner who contemplates modernization is that of costs.

"What will it cost me to modernize my home?" is the question that is constantly raised. The answer to such a question logically depends on the condition of the home, its size, the amount of modernizing to be done and other subjects of similar nature.

Old Houses Require Greater Expenditure

Obviously the house that was built back in the gay nineties when many of the common conveniences of today were unknown, will require a greater expenditure of money than the dwelling that was constructed ten or fifteen years ago.

The old house of the day of Free Silver has an architectural style that is obsolete. The ginger bread trimming, the ill-arranged rooms and the lack of up-to-date fixtures call for a thorough modernization.

On the other hand, a house that was built ten or fifteen years ago has many of the conveniences that are standard today. It may require a new heating plant, a sun porch, up to date electrical fixtures, or more pleasing interior decorations.

The older the house the more the cost of modernizing will be.

Average Cost $2,000

An investigation into the costs of modernizing various homes disclosed that the average cost of modernization was in the neighborhood of $2,000.

This investigation covered over 100,000 homes and was conducted by an organization in a position to secure accurate figures—a state league of building and loan associations. They knew almost to a penny the actual amount spent on modernization by various home owners who submitted their modernizing plans when applying for loans.

Figures secured from other independent sources go to prove the accuracy of this estimate. $2,000 is a fair amount to set up as the average cost of modernizing a home.

Home Stood Idle

An instance is related of one house that stood idle for many months due to its poor condition. This house was constructed back in the days when stove heat was universal. It had no cellar nor modern lighting. It was

STUCCO BUILDINGS MAY BE CLEANED BY WASHING

After a stucco home has been in use for a number of years stains and dirt accumulate on the side walls. This is a common condition with any type of house but with stucco painting is not necessary as with wooden siding. A thorough cleaning only is needed.

THE NEW BATH ROOM A GREAT CONTRAST TO OLD ONE

These views show the great strides made in beautifying the bath-room. Above is a compact little room with modern appointments such as shower and built-in tub.

PLACE FURNITURE FOR COMFORT—BEAUTY FOLLOWS

The ideal home interior is one in to the mind as well as to the body. which comfort is perfectly blended with beauty. The secret of securing both comfort and beauty is to aim for comfort first, for on the trail of comfort one inevitably finds beauty as well.

When placing the furniture in the various rooms of the house keep this principle in mind and the results will be entirely satisfactory to you. Many a person has been perplexed by the problem of furniture arrangement, not knowing that the secret was so simple. Comfort is a two-fold entity relating

MODERN BATH COMPACT, NEAT AND SANITARY

The great advance in bathroom fixtures is illustrated forcefully by the before and after illustrations on this page.

The view at the bottom shows a typical bathroom of yester-year. It is a bare, dingy room, gloomy and ill ventilated. The fixtures are in style many years ago and their presence is today a sign that modernization is needed.

In contrast look at the view to the left. Note the handsome fixtures and evidence of good taste.

Modern Bathroom Compact

The modern bathroom is designed to utilize every square foot of space. The fixtures fit snugly without crowding. Careful planning can adapt even as small a room as 6x7½ feet so that it has a spacious look.

In this particular installation the floor and wainscoting are linoleum which is easily cleaned. Often tiles are placed on the floor and form the wainscot. The upper walls are finished in plaster, painted to harmonize with the wainscot. This wall may be covered with canvas, sheeting, wall paper or chintz. Whatever the material it should be finished with a shellac or enamel to protect it.

The radiator is set in a recess in the wall and protected by a grille. The use of a recess conserves space in a small room.

Mirror Flanked by Lights

The mirror is hinged, opening on a cabinet for toilet articles. On each side of the mirror are electric lamps with frosted bulbs which give a clear, soft light.

The enamel bath sets on the floor, thus preventing an accumulation of dust beneath. It is low, with a flat bottom and straight sides, designed to prevent slipping when stepping in or out of the tub.

Overhead is the shower which is controlled from the side of the wall. The shower curtain will be noted against the wall.

The syphon jet closet has a low tank. Its modern construction makes it practically free from noise. The lavatory has a substantial pedestal. A knob controls the direct lift of the waste which gives a quiet free flow.

The keen appreciation of colors in interior decorations is reflected nowadays in the bathroom.
